

We are looking for researchers with language skills in French for research works on climate, energy and environment policies.

Our job offer

eclareon is an international consulting firm (based in Berlin, Germany) with a focus on the sectors of renewable energy, climate policy and energy efficiency. We support the European Commission, national ministries and energy agencies in the analysis of political and legal frameworks, the development of new markets as well as the development of their organization. For more information, please visit www.eclareon.com.

The eclareon Policy Department is looking for a new researcher to support its research-team as soon as possible.

As student research assistant, you are supporting the Policy Department in research activities regarding climate, environmental and energy policies. Furthermore, renewable energies and their related support schemes and framework conditions are also a central focus of the department's activities. You will research developments of environmental, energy and climate policies in France and Luxembourg and edit them in a clear format. Also, you will conduct (telephone) interviews with foreign experts on the before mentioned aspects. In addition, research will also focus on support schemes and grid connection issues for renewable energies in France and Luxembourg.

Work conditions

- Working hours. Part-time employment 8 hours per week per country
- Period. As of December 2020. Long-term engagement envisaged
- Payment. 12 - 14 €/hour
- Workplace. The work can also be carried out from abroad

Your profile

- Student or PhD candidate of law, political science, engineering, economy, social sciences or related subjects (student or PhD status for at least one and a half years desired)
- Enjoys independent and self-regulated work
- Very good knowledge of French and English.
- Communicative and confident
- Interested in the subject field of renewable energies
